COLLEGE BEGINS ITS 90TH YEAR

Brua Chapel Filled at Opening Exercises. Dr. W. A. Granville Presides.

SERVICE IS HIS THEME

Dr. P. M. Bickle, Dean of the College, Conducts Devotional Exercises. Y. M. C. A. Reception to be Big Event.

Brua Chapel was filled to capacity at 11 o'clock this morning when opening exercises for the ninetieth year of Gettysburg College were held. Upper-classmen and Freshmen, with a representation of co-eds, filled the auditorium of the chapel and the annex. The faculty, increased since commencement last June by eight new members, occupied the stage, many of them in academic dress.

Dr. William A. Granville, president of Gettysburg College, presided at the exercises. After singing the College hymn, "Glory and Honor," Dr. P. M. Bickle, dean of the institution, read a passage of scripture and concluded with prayer.

"Do more than is expected of you," was the keynote of the address of Dr. Granville. After classifying persons into three groups: those who do what they should not do; those who do just what they must and no more; and those who do more than they are told. Dr. Granville urged everyone to be of some service while in College, and place himself in the third class he had enumerated.

To the incoming class, Dr. Granville extended a welcome. He advised them to turn to the upper-classmen and faculty for aid when perplexing problems arise. And of the upper-classmen, he expressed the hope that they would be willing to assist the Freshmen and act as "big brothers" to them.

Service of some kind was advised by Dr. Granville for all. "By serving you will not only bring honor upon yourselves but upon the College, the church, the state and the nation," as well," he concluded.

Announcements of the various professors were then read after which the exercises closed with the singing of "America" and the benediction pronounced by Dr. Bickle.

Campus Busy Place.
Since the return of the football candidates to Gettysburg from the training camp in the South Mountains, Gettysburg College environs took on new life activities. Trains and automobile buses daily deposited their quota of students in town, not only for College but for Seminary and the Academy as well.

By far the largest influx arrived Tuesday and by evening the streets again resounded to the tread of many students' feet. The evening train on the Philadelphia and Reading railroad brought a large contingent of co-eds who were met at the station by a number of Gettysburg girls, students at College, and directed to boarding and lodging houses.

Co-eds Return.

Each year the number of Co-eds at College is increasing and it is now the belief of many College graduates, that a dormitory on or near the College campus is advisable and imperative.

Freshmen Ruled.

The exercises this morning mark the beginning of the regulations imposed upon the incoming Freshman class. Every male member of the class, which will graduate in 1926, is expected to furnish himself with the proper Freshman cap and refrain from wearing fancy socks or neckties after today. The Freshmen are also banned from using the center walk leading to "Old Dorm," but instead they must leave and enter that building by gravel roadway leading from the front entrance of the campus. Following tradition the time-honored custom of prohibiting Freshmen (Continued on Second Page)

PLAN COUNTY INSTITUTE

Preliminary plans are being made for the annual institute of Adams County's school teachers at the office of W. Raymond Shank, County Superintendent of Schools. The institute will be held from November 20 to 24 in Xavier Hall, Mr. Shank has announced. The program for the event is now being prepared.

LIBRARY OF MR. NICHOLSON SOLD

California Railway Magnate Buys Valuable Civil War Collection.

WERE 15,600 VOLUMES

New Owner Has One of Finest Private Collections of Books and Manuscripts in The World.

Interest here is attached to the recent sale of the Civil War collection of books of the late Colonel John Page Nicholson, of Philadelphia, consisting of 15,600 volumes, to Henry Huntington, of San Gabriel, California. Mr. Nicholson was chairman of the Gettysburg National Military Park Commission at the time of his death, March 8, last.

Colonel Nicholson collected an enormous library of Civil War literature. It was said to be the largest collection of its kind in the world. It was gathered over a period of fifty years. The volumes were bound under his direction in cloth, morocco and levant. In 1914 he published a catalogue, a volume of more than a thousand pages of which there are presentation copies in the College and Seminary libraries.

Mr. Nicholson was translator and editor of the "History of the Civil War in America," written by Comte de Paris, and he edited and compiled two volumes dealing with the part Pennsylvania played in the Battle of Gettysburg.

Mr. Huntington, California railway magnate, who purchased the books and manuscripts, owns one of the finest private collections of English literature and Americana in the world, including the original manuscript of Benjamin Franklin's autobiography, the largest private collection of Lincoln letters and manuscripts and the finest collection of Washington manuscripts.

Appointed chairman of the Park Commission here in July, 1893, Mr. Nicholson served in this capacity continuously until his death. He, with Mrs. Nicholson, spent the summer months in Gettysburg during that time. Under his direction the lines of battle were marked, the net work of roads on the field laid out and the system of memorials perfected.

FUNERAL SERVICE HELD

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary A. Gilbert, widow of the late Charles Gilbert, of Gettysburg, were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Methodist Episcopal church. The Rev. E. H. Hummelbaugh, pastor of the United Brethren church officiated in the absence of the Rev. Dr. Harry Daniels. Interment was made in Evergreen Cemetery.

Pallbearers were: C. F. Solt, Professor C. Lee Shilliday, Blaine Kitzmiller, H. A. Crouse, Theodore Homan and J. Calvin Nau.

HAVE INSURED FAIR

To protect itself against rain, the Hanover Fair Association has taken out insurance amounting to $19,000 for the three main days of the affair.

If one-tenth of an inch of rainfall is recorded between the hours of 8 a. m. and 2 p. m. on any one of these days insurance can be collected. The amount is proportionated among the three days as follows: Wednesday, $7,500; Thursday, $9,500; Friday, $2,000.

COMMISSIONERS AT ALTOONA

Adams County Commissioners and their clerk, C. E. Tawney, are attending the State convention of county commissioners being held at Altoona, this week. Commissioners Reuben Lupp, William Linn and Walter C. Snyder are in attendance. They expect to be gone until the latter part of this week.

ISSUING LICENSES

Two hundred and sixty five hunting licenses have been issued by R. E. Zinn, County Treasurer, up to the present time. Treasurer Zinn has announced that no licenses will be sent by mail unless postage accompanies the application.

NOT TO RAISE HARD COAL PRICE

Operators Assure Commission. They Will Compare With Those of Last March.

Good news is contained in the announcement that prices for anthracite coal this fall will be comparable to those in effect last March. This statement was made on assurance given by large operators to the State Fuel Commission. Any losses sustained by the mines due to the strike have been ruled out by the commission.

Section 1 of the rules governing anthracite distribution and prices affecting operators and retail dealers, issued by the Fuel Commission, was as follows:

"The maximum gross margin per ton on sales of anthracite by retailers shall not exceed the gross margin per ton realized during the month of March, 1922, without the authorization of the commission."

Pending the fixing of a definite fair price by the commission, which met in Philadelphia with the operators last Tuesday, this ruling was made. Another meeting of the operators, who at that conference demanded an increase of from $1 to $1.50 a ton, will be held in Philadelphia Thursday.

Mr. Ainey announced that two of the largest anthracite producing companies have assured the Fuel Commission that they would establish prices at the mines as low as the prices prevailing in March, 1922, and from telegrams from these companies he said the price to be fixed will be about $8.

SEMINARY OPENS

Address of Welcome Given by Dr. J. A. Singmaster, President.

Gettysburg's Lutheran Theological seminary held opening exercises in the chapel there at 9:45 o'clock, this morning. Dr. J. A. Singmaster, president of the seminary, delivered the address of welcome.

"Perpetuity of the Church" was the subject of Dr. Singmaster's address at the opening of this the ninety-seventh year of the institution's existence.

Rev. A. R. Longanecker, of Mechanicsburg, assisted in conducting the opening exercises.

Following the address of Dr. Singmaster, announcements were made by various professors, after which the enrollment of the students took place. There are fifteen members in the entering class at Seminary this year.

COMMITTEE GETS HIDS

Five Fire Truck Propositions Considered By Members.

Final action on the selection of a new chemical fire truck by the committee of the Gettysburg Fire Company would be delayed to permit one of the companies represented to prepare a bid, it was decided after a meeting Tuesday night of the committee appointed to make the purchase. Five propositions were submitted by as many companies.

Committeemen present were J. L. Williams, Esq., R. P. Funkhouser, John W. Brehm, James B. Aumen and D. C. Stallsmith.

To-night the committee will go to Littlestown where a demonstration of the new La France engine, owned by the Littlestown fire company, will be given.

OXFORD MAN AT EXERCISES

Wade E. Stoneifer, of Emmitsburg, Maryland, a graduate of Gettysburg Theological seminary in the class of 1921, is attending the opening exercises of College and Seminary. After graduating from Seminary, Mr. Stoneifer spent one year at Oxford University, England, where he took advanced courses in theology.

RECALL HAINES

Outfielder "Hinky" Haines, assistant football coach at Gettysburg College last year, has been recalled by the New York Yankees. Haines is now coaching football at Penn State College.

HANOVER FAIR ON

With excellent weather conditions, a crowd, estimated at 15,000 persons, attended the Hanover Fair this morning. Rain on the opening day, Tuesday, kept the crowd down to 10,000.

UNABLE TO PAY $10; RELEASED

Ivan C. Sentz Served His Jail Sentences But Was Without Funds.

GAVE WORTHLESS CHECKS

Meager List of Personal Property. Has Wife And Two Children to Support.

Because he was unable to pay a fine of $10 and the costs of the prosecution in his case, President Judge D. P. McPherson has issued an order directing Sheriff John Hartman to release Ivan C. Sentz from custody in the Adams county jail. The order of Judge McPherson was filed with J. R. Hartman, Clerk of the Courts, this morning.

Sentz entered pleas of guilty to three charges of writing checks without sufficient funds with intent to defraud at the January term of Quarter Sessions. He was sentenced to undergo an imprisonment of three months in the county jail on the first charge and ten days additional for each of the other two counts against him. In addition, he was ordered to pay a fine of $10 and the costs of the prosecution, and remain in the custody of the Sheriff until the fine and costs were paid.

Served Sentence

Sentz served the three sentences imposed upon him in January. The confinement sentences expired in May, last, but Sentz could not be released until the fine and costs of the prosecution of his case had been settled to the satisfaction of the Court. The total costs amount to $57.30.

The reason set forth in the petition for his inability to pay the fine and costs reads as follows:

"Your petitioner further represents that he has fully served out the imprisonment imposed upon him as aforesaid, but by reason of financial inability has been unable to pay and cannot pay the said fine and costs of prosecution; that he has no property and estate whatsoever outside of wearing apparel and personal property scheduled and made a part of this petition."

Itemizes Property
Two suits of clothes, two shirts, one pair of shoes, one hat and one suit case, comprise the list of personal property and estate belonging to Sentz. (Continued on Fifth Page)

TALK OF STAGING BEAUTY CONTEST

Miss Adams County May be Selected Here on Farmers' Day.

New interest will be aroused in Gettysburg's Farmers' Day, October 19, if the plans for staging a beauty contest are carried out, those in charge of the event believe.

According to tentative plans every girl in Adams county will have the privilege of entering the contest, the purpose of which is to select the most beautiful young lady. While no rules or regulations have been adopted, it is certain there will be no age limit or any other provision that will bar any one desiring to compete.

Miss Adams County will be the title conferred on the maiden and she will be the recipient of a number of valuable gifts, if the plan is carried out. In addition to selecting the most beautiful girl a half dozen other beauties will be chosen as attendants. The winner will likely be crowned at the Playground on the afternoon of Farmers' Day.

Details for staging a beauty contest will be discussed at a meeting of chairmen of all Farmers' Day committees and a decision will be reached as to whether it shall be conducted.

Nation-wide beauty contests have been held during the summer and attracted much attention, it is pointed out, and the majority of Farmers' Day workers are in favor of giving it a place on the program.

SOUTH MOUNTAIN FAIR INSURED

Premium Lists Out. Indications Point to Filled Lists of Exhibits.

Rain insurance as a precaution against inclement weather has been issued to the executive committee of the South Mountain Fair. The amount was fixed at $800. This step was taken by the committee in charge to cover any financial loss which might be incurred because of rain. The fair has grown to such large proportions that the financial loss would be heavy, should rain spoil the day.

The premium lists have been distributed and judging from the large number of classes, the exhibits in every department will be large. There are nine divisions in the fair, aside from the extensive machinery and automobile displays. All classes are expected to be filled.

Loysville Band.

There will be plenty of entertainment. Announcement has been made that the Loysville and Mt. Joy Bands will be in attendance the entire day and that negotiations are under way to obtain both the Biglerville and the Bendersville Bands for part of the day at least.

The concessions for the eating stands have been let to Warren and Raffensperger, of Arendtsville who will operate for the benefit of fair committee.

The grounds are being put into shape for the big exhibition which will be held a week from today. There will be both a day and evening session.

TRANSLATION 400 YEARS AGO

Lutherans of World Observing Fourth Centennial of Event.

IN LANGUAGE OF MASSES

Luther Brought Edition From Press in 1522 Despite Many Difficulties. Had Spectacular Sale.

Thursday, September 21, marks the fourth centennial of the translation of the New Testament into the language of the masses of people by Martin Luther. The event will be informally observed by the Lutheran congregations in this county and by elaborate ceremony in other Lutheran churches throughout the country.

Thursday morning at 11 o'clock in the Seminary Chapel observance of the centennial will be celebrated with a public meeting. Members of the faculty will make addresses.

It was on September 21, 1522, that Martin Luther first brought from the press of Wittenberg, Germany, his translation of the New Testament from the original Greek into his Saxon dialect, which through this event developed into the modern High German language. This huge task of Luther's, accomplished in 1522, played a very important part in the Protestant Reformation. It was the first time that the New Testament appeared without omissions and a direct translation from the original Greek.

Previous to Luther's translation of the Testament, there had been numerous vernacular translations, but all of them were taken from the Latin Vulgate, the official Bible of the Catholic church. Luther's work has the distinction of being the first translation into any language in general use from the original Greek in which the New Testament was written.

FOILS HOLD-UP MEN

Victim Too Clever For New York Bandits.

(By Associated Press)

New York, Sept. 20.—Faced by two armed men, demanding money, who entered his room at the Commodore Hotel early today, Byron Johnston, a clerk, sat up in bed, declared he had no cash and offered to write a check which he said he would get cashed for them. He wrote on the back of the check:

"Hold-up, call the police," and, accompanied by the hold-up men went down stairs and handed the check to the hotel cashier. There the startling endorsement was read by the clerk who quietly summoned a policeman. One of the men was arrested but his companion escaped.

FORD PLANS TO REOPEN

(By Associated Press)

Detroit, Sept. 20.—Henry Ford and his executives are working "almost day and night" in an effort to find a way out of the Ford Motor company's coal problem and the manufacturer is determined to reopen his Detroit plant "at the earliest possible moment," it was learned by the Associated Press today. Although secrecy surrounds the moves of the company's officials, it is known, no effort is being spared whereby coal can be procured.

SOCOLOW FIGHTS EXTRADITION

Man Accused of Norris Murder Held in New York City.

SUDDENLY CHANGES PLAN

Three Points Must be Established Before Prisoner is Brought Back to Baltimore.

(By Associated Press)
Baltimore, Sept. 20.—Doing a complete "about face" in his avowed intentions, Walter Socolow, accused of the actual shooting in the Norris murder and held by New York police, this morning started his fight against extradition to Baltimore. Last midnight he had affirmed his willingness to come to Baltimore without further ado.

It was 10 o'clock this morning that the change was announced.

Preliminary proceedings against extradition were heard by Justice Francis Martin of the circuit court of New York, who remanded Socolow to the Tombs until 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Theodore Bloom, of the firm of Haine-Weinrub, Broadway, filed papers for Socolow. Bloom said the fight was being made as result of action by Oscar Bremen, Baltimore, a friend of one of Socolow's sisters.

To Prove Three Points

Despite the fight, it is expected, no great delay will be caused in the plans to bring Socolow back to Baltimore. Three points are to be proven to bring about the extradition of Socolow. These are that the extradition papers are regular, that Socolow was in Baltimore at the time of the crime and that Walter Socolow, is the name of the person. When these points are established papers will be declared legal and Socolow's fight will be over.

Changes Tactics

When Socolow was greeted by detectives at the Tombs this morning, he changed his usual tactics of being agreeable to his captors. Until today he had been on the best of terms with the officers.

About midnight Detective Kahler, of Baltimore, talked with Socolow and the latter reiterated he would not fight extradition. This morning officers received the papers at the first district court and made their way to the Tombs only to find Socolow had made a complete change of front.

Sergeant William Thornton of the northeastern district, who declared he saw Socolow in the alleged murder car on the day of the murder and took the number of the machine will probably be sent to testify at the hearing in New York tomorrow.

An attempt to obtain the release of John Keller, alleged tip-off boy, accused with Harry B. Wolf, criminal lawyer, and Socolow of conspiracy to obstruct justice was made in Baltimore city courts this afternoon.

Attorney Vincent J. Demarco, on behalf of Mrs. Rose Keller, mother of the alleged tip-off boy, applied for the writ of habeas corpus. Judge Stump set next Friday morning as the time for the hearing.

STOCK REPORT

(By Associated Press)

New York, Sept. 20.—Wall street's approval of President Harding's veto of the soldier bonus bill and lack of serious concern over the near eastern situation was reflected in the strong tone at the opening of today's stock market. Prices advanced steadily over a broad field on comparatively light dealings. The upward movement continued throughout the morning.

Gains were modified some what later. Sales approximated 885,000 shares.

MUCH COAL LOADED

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Sept. 20.—Railroad loadings of soft coal on Monday were reported by the Association of Railway Executives to have been the greatest for any day in the past two and a half years except for two days last March and one day in 1921. Loadings Monday totaled 37,330 cars.

MURDER SUSPECT SOON ARRESTED

Pistol Used in Slaying Two Found. Officials Near End of Investigation.

HUSBAND IS ELIMINATED

Widow of Rector Under Fire. She And Her Brother Questioned About Nocturnal Jaunts.

New Brunswick, N. J., Sept. 20.—Discovery of the pistol with which Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, rector of the Church of St. John the Evangelist, and Mrs. Eleanor Reinhardt Mills, his young choir leader, were slain, brought the investigation of the mysterious double murder near its close last night. While officials of Middlesex and Somerset counties, who are co-operating on the case, refused to repeat earlier optimistic predictions of an arrest within a given time, it was learned that the custodian of the small county jail at Somerville, Somerset county, had been instructed to prepare for the receipt of at least one prisoner.

County Detective David, of Middlesex, who found the pistol—a black automatic—refused to say where he had gotten it, or whom he suspected of being its owner. Ownership of the weapon was being traced, he said, and an arrest might be expected as soon as that procedure had been completed.

Earlier in the day detectives had come into possession of a woman's handkerchief, pierced with what appeared to be bullet holes. The handkerchief had been picked up near the spot on the abandoned Phillips farm, in Somerset county, where the bodies of the rector and Mrs. Mills were found. Ownership of this lace-bound square, if it can be established, may furnish valuable evidence in support of the theory that a man and a woman, together, surprised the minister and Mrs. Mills, and that one of the duo slew them after a struggle between the two women.

Widow Under Close Fire.

Nearly all day long—save for a brief respite while they attended the simple funeral of Mrs. Mills—the slain woman's husband, James Mills, and her daughter, Charlotte, were closeted with officials in Prosecutor Stricker's office undergoing a minute examination. When they were dismissed, shortly after 4 o'clock, Assistant Prosecutor Toolan and Detective David said that Mills was "definitely out of it" and was under no suspicion whatever.

Mrs. Hall, wealthy widow of the slain clergyman, and her brother, William Stevens, had been summoned to appear after Mills and his daughter, but they later were informed they need not come until they were communicated with again. When examination of this pair is resumed, it is understood, Mrs. Hall and "Willie," as he is commonly known, will be quizzed especially as to their movements last Thursday night and early Friday morning. It was in this period that the couple were slain.

Mrs. Hall already has told the authorities that she was "the woman in the polo coat" who witnesses say entered the Hall residence about 2:45 o'clock Friday morning. She had been to the church with "Willie," she said, to see if her husband was there. Mills says he visited the church about the same hour in search of his missing wife, but saw nothing of Mrs. Hall or "Willie."

Mrs. Hall also was to be asked what she was doing at the Pennsylvania station between 11 and 12 o'clock Friday forenoon. Remsen Cownhaven, a lawyer, told the authorities yesterday that he had seen Mrs. Hall come to the station "somewhat disheveled," look eagerly about for a few minutes and then depart.

Rushing Season On. When the exercises were brought to a close, there was the usual rush to boarding houses or fraternities, where board is furnished the initiates. Many of the upper-classmen, members of fraternities, linked arm in arm with members of the Freshman class, escorted them to their respective houses for the start of the annual "rushing season."

The annual reception to old and new students given by the Y. W. C. A. of the College will be held in the Robert Weidensall hall, dedicated last June, this evening at 8 o'clock. For years past this has been one of the biggest affairs at the opening of the collegiate year.

TARIFF BILL NOW TO PRESIDENT

Senate Passes Measure by Vote of 43 to 28. Five Republicans Opposed.

Washington, Sept. 20.—Final legislative action on the tariff act of 1922 was taken yesterday with the adoption of the conference report by the Senate. The measure now goes to President Harding and will become effective the day after he signs it. Under the law, he has 10 days in which to attach his signature.

The Senate vote was 43 to 28 and came exactly 1 year 8 months and 13 days after work was started on what will be the first Republican protective tariff law enacted in nearly 10 years. Five Republicans voted against the conference report and two Democrats supported it. Three Republicans—Cameron Cummins and Leenroot, who voted for the bill as amended in the Senate—opposed it in the form it came from conference.

Treasury experts estimate that the new act will yield about $400,000,000 a year in revenue, one-half from these four sources: Sugar, $87,000,000; raw wool, $63,000,000; tobacco, $35,000,000 and lace and embroideries $15,000,000.

Below Payne-Aldrich Act. Joseph S. McCoy, Actuary of the Treasury, figures that in actual operation, the effective equivalent ad valorem will average slightly below those in the famous Payne-Aldrich act. The average of the rates as written, however, is declared to be slightly above the average of those in the 1909 act.

In making their estimates, the experts say they have calculated that some of the new duties, particularly those relating to cutlery, will be inoperative because they are so high as to be practically prohibitive, while others, including most of those in the agricultural schedule, will be inoperative because of an absence of imports of the commodities they cover.

BIGLERVILLE

Biglerville.—The O. F. F. C. Club, of Harrisburg, held a straw-ride one evening recently. They drove to the home of Edward Blocher, near Biglerville, where they spent the evening playing games on the lawn. Refreshments were served and at a late hour the club members returned to Harrisburg. Those present were: Mrs. Clara Gardner, Misses Annie Sheaffer, Mary Patterson, Fannie McClain, Lillian Orren, Odette Brehm, Nellie Brady, Mae Gardner, Anna Blocher, Messrs. Irvin Bretz, Charles Gaymen, Frank Foose, Parker Mathias, John Fluss, George Shaeffer, George Blocher, Harry Minter, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Blocher, Mr. and Mrs. John Blocher, Mrs. H. W. Crum, Earle Dale, Paul Crum, Richard, Mildred and Pauline Blocher.

Kelley Linah and family spent Sunday at the home of Zephaniah Tipton.

Mrs. Tacy Swift is visiting relatives at Parkton, Maryland. Captain and Mrs. Samuel Bowman, of Woodstock, Virginia, are visiting at the home of Miss Blanch Deatrick. Mr. and Mrs. Claire Peters, of Hagerstown and Mr. and Mrs. Danner Peters and family spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Peters.

The large condensery, being built by the Hershey Creamery Company, is nearing completion. Kohl Brothers are drilling a well to furnish the water supply.

C. E. Deatrick is making repairs to one of the reservoirs at the water plant on Yellow Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wasinger and Mr. Yoder have returned from Trout Run, Lycoming county, where they spent the last few weeks.

The Adams County Fruit Packing and Distributing Company and the Musselman Canning Company are running on full time in order to care for the apples which are being hauled to market.

ASKS BITE COMPENSATION

Victim Of Hungry Mosquito Makes Appeal To The State Board.

Harrisburg, Sept. 20.—A mosquito bite received by Anthony Mercovich while working in a swamp near Philadelphia for the American Dredging Company brought an application to the Workmen's Compensation Board yesterday for $67, which Mercovich claims he spent in medical fees to treat the bite as a result of infection. The company claims the man did not receive the bite while in the course of his employment, and on this account refused to pay the doctor's bill. Mercovich asserts that while returning to the office of his employer, walking through the swamp, he was bitten by a mosquito of unusual ferocity. Chairman Mackey took the case under advisement and will hold a hearing in Philadelphia Thursday to determine the merits of the case.

It doesn't bother the girls having the eyes of the men on their silk-encased pedal extremities—but it surely makes them sore to have so many mosquitoes on them.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

HARDING VETOES BONUS MEASURE

Action Regarded as Making Remuneration to World War Veterans Impossible.

OBJECTIONS ARE STATED

Failure to Provide Means of Financing Main Reason. Senate Will Prevent Overriding Veto.

Washington, Sept. 20.—President Harding vetoed the soldiers' bonus bill yesterday, informing Congress in a written message that while he was in accord with "the avowed purpose" of the measure, he did not subscribe to its provisions.

The Executive's action was regarded generally in Washington as making impossible a bonus for the World War veterans, at least for some time to come, as it appeared to be almost certain that the veto would be sustained by the Senate. A vote in the House was planned for today with Senate action to follow later in the day or on Thursday.

The President set forth a number of reasons for returning the bill to the House without his approval. These included:

President's Objections. Failure of Congress to provide a means of financing.

That inevitably the bonus would mean increased taxation.

That the legislation would wipe out everything thus far accomplished to reduce Government expenditures wherever possible.

That a peace bestowal on the ex-service men was "a perversion of public funds" and suggested "that future defense is to be inspired by compensation rather than consciousness of duty to flag and country."

That to add one-sixth of the total sum of the public debt for distribution among less than 5,000,000 of 110,000,000 people would undermine the confidence on which the nation's credit was built and "establish the precedent of distributing public funds whenever the proposal and the numbers affected make it seem politically appealing to do so."

That the $10,000,000,000 of maturing public debt in the next six years would be difficult to meet without the complication of added borrowings on account of a bonus.

Certified Inability To Pay.

That the adjusted service certificate plan of payment, with its bank and Government loan provisions, was little less than a certified inability of the Government to pay, and invited "a practice of sacrificial barter" by the veterans.

That the bonus would not diminish the later obligation in the way of pensions to the World War veterans.

Asserting that this obligation would "cost more billions than I venture to suggest," the President declared that "a rational financial policy today is necessary to make the nation ready for the expenditure which is certain to be required in the coming years."

Mr. Harding also called attention to the sums now being expended for the care of the diseased, disabled or dependent, and asserted that the total cost of this work, with insurance liability added, probably would exceed $25,000,000,000.

MRS. TIERNAN WEEPS ON STAND

Professor's Wife Testifies to First Meeting With Notre Dame Merchant.

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 20.—Resuming the witness stand yesterday at the hearing which is being held to determine whether or not Henry Poulin is the father of her infant son, Mrs. John P. Tiernan, wife of a University of Notre Dame law professor, told on cross-examination of her first meeting with Poulin.

While attending a dance with her husband in a local hotel here early in 1921, Mrs. Tiernan said, she first met Poulin. While Mrs. Tiernan and Poulin were dancing together, the witness testified, he kissed her. A month or so later, she said, she again met Poulin and he again kissed her.

Kissed Second Time. The second time Poulin kissed her, Mrs. Tiernan said, she had gone to his store at Notre Dame. Several visits to the store were made, she said, her husband believing she was attending a picture show.

Attorneys questioned Mrs. Tiernan about several picnics which were attended by members of both families, and Mrs. Tiernan admitted that while on one of these outings she wore a bathing suit which was presented to her by Poulin without the knowledge of his wife. Mrs. Tiernan was in tears so often that it was necessary for the court to suspend her examination by defense attorneys several times.

Visited Poulin's Home

While Mrs. Poulin and her children were in Chicago Mrs. Tiernan testified that Poulin called her on the telephone several times and induced her to visit him at his home. She met him at their regular meeting place, she said, and then went to his home, staying there until about 10 o'clock when she went home.

EX-KAISER WILL WED IN NOVEMBER

Betrothal to Princess Hermine Officially Announced at Doorn.

Doorn, Holland, Sept. 20.—The betrothal of the former Emperor William to Princess Hermine von Schoenaich-Carolath was officially announced at 11 o'clock yesterday morning in his castle at Doorn, in the presence of former Crown Prince Frederick William and Prince August William, the fourth son.

The marriage will probably take place in November, it was announced after a family council of the House of Hohenzollern at Potsdam. The council was attended by all the ex-Kaiser's sons with the exception of ex-Crown Prince Frederick William. All the sons and the ex-crown princess have consented to the marriage, it is stated. The announcement was made by Friedrich von Berg, chief of the civil cabinet of the House of Hohenzollern.

Princess Von Schoenaich-Carolath was born Princess Reuss of the elder line. She is 34 years of age and is the mother of five children, the eldest of whom is 14. The Princess owns a large estate at Saarbor, Silesia.

Ever since reports of the Kaiser's engagement to her have been circulated, monarchists have taken a contrary attitude to the match. They have opposed it principally because the princess is not of royal birth. Her rank is what is described as "durch-laut," which is just below that of royal grade, but still above that of a noble lady. Before her marriage to Prince Jean, of Schoenaich-Carolath, who died in April, 1920, she carried the title of Serene Highness as Princess Hermine, of Reuss.

Princess Hermine is tall and beautiful. She has a graceful carriage and displays a rare queenly dignity. She is blonde, and her luxuriant hair encircles her face of exquisite sweetness.

ARREST RIOTERS

Cumberland Officials Deny They Will Ask For Troops.

Reports that county officials and members of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce were going to invoke the aid of State troops as the result of the battle between striking miners and strike breakers in which five men were wounded Monday, were denied today.

Following a conference between Chief Judge A. Hunter Boyd, State's Attorney Fuller Bernard, Sheriff McFarland and County Detective Deneen, it was announced that the Cumberland authorities had the situation well in hand and no outside help would be needed.

Sixteen men, charged with having been implicated in the riot, have been arrested and warrants issued for 53 others. Sheriff McFarland refuses to divulge the names of any of those under arrest on the ground that publication of such names would handicap his further efforts.

The chief obstacle to cheerfulness is the person who always preaches it.—Life.

ROBBERY AT FAIR

Charge Fakirs With Assault And Larceny at Hanover.

Justice of the Peace Lewis D. Sell's "court" in Hanover opened for its regular Fair week session Tuesday morning when three men were arraigned on a charge of assault and robbery on the oath of S. C. Heffner, a York tent manufacturer. The alleged assault took place at the fair grounds early Tuesday morning. Heffner charged that his brother, C. F. Heffner, was robbed of $207.50 in checks and between $150 and $180 in cash.

The money was not recovered and it is supposed a negro, who escaped, carried the booty with him.

The men arrested gave their names as John E. Hensley, Indiana; George Spangler, Philadelphia, and James H. Mills, Ohio.

Governor Sproul will make the address of welcome at the opening session, Tuesday morning. Mr. Beidleman will respond in behalf of the Firemen's Association.

STAUB-SMITH

Miss Cecelia C. Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vitus J. Smith, Brush-town, and Lawrence Conrad Staub, son of Mrs. Daniel Staub, Conewago township, were married Tuesday morning at 7 o'clock. Nuptial mass was conducted at Conewago chapel by the Rev. Charles Koch. The best man was Joseph E. Smith, brother of the bride, and the maid of honor was Miss Catherine Staub, sister of the bridegroom. A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Jacob Murren, near McSherrytown, and a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride. Tuesday evening a reception was given at her home.

BRIMM-ORNDORFF

On Wings of Wireless

Curtis was sour; Rae nervously triumphant. They had been deserted, put ashore, double-crossed. Was it possible that they, too, were merely tools of the man-at-the-top? Who was it then? Georges had been eliminated and was in jail with his mouth sealed. Brock was out of the way, a lonely prisoner ready to turn state's evidence to save his miserable hide. Who, then? Where was Ruth?

As Garrick and Dick came up, Curtis had his cue from Rae. A clean breast was the next best thing to a clean get-away.

"Talk about Kidd and Morgan and Blackbeard!" he exclaimed in anxious disgust. "They were piker pirates! They plundered their pals, I've read. Well, so did this beast—and he carried off a girl, too, a ten-million dollar prize!"

Garrick shot question after question. "Why, the 'Bacchante' was a floating treasure house—the jewels of the Gerard robbery, the Parr jewels—the stuff from a score of others. There was money, oh, I don't know how much, the profits of the bootleg scheme, of looting wine cellars all over the Island, of the Inner Circle." Jack swore as he thought of the massed wealth from which he had been "defrauded."

"Why was the 'Bacchante' here?" demanded Garrick. "To take him off; he came across by car from the Radio Central, as soon as he got me—damn him!—with the boat into the open ocean, safe—Professor Vario, of course!"

"Professor Vario!" echoed Dick in amazement. "Yes, Professor Vario, head of the biggest gang of bootleggers, black-mailers and dress-suit yeggmen I guess you ever heard of. Yeh—Georges was the fellow pulled 'em in; Brock was the roughneck—Rae and I were the decoys—Ruth, Vira, Glenn and the others were their cover. Damn his eyes!"

"But—the robberies?" queried Dick. "Doesn't it explain the robberies? To amass a small fortune, of course. That guy was born money-hungry—and girl-crazy! I know his game. He dragged me into his dirty work—fool that I was—then he expected all the time to come along at the right time, posing as a hero to Ruth, rescuing her from me. Then to Bernma, the Bahamas, Martinique, anywhere—I don't know. Only I do know now that Vario intended all along to marry that girl—and get ten millions!"

"Explain?" echoed Garrick. "It explains a lot of things. For instance, at the Binnacle, what really happened was that you, Jack, double-crossed Vario and tried to get away with Ruth yourself, and he caught you. It just gave him his first chance to play hero, eh?" Curtis nodded sullenly. "And the night of the dictograph. With his wave meter, Vario discovered it, found that all his secrets were being spilled in the air, and jammed in on the dictograph wave length."

Jack listened as if it was the clanking of a chair. He was afraid of Garrick. "Then that broadcasted poison pen message. First Vario had allowed you to get Ruth into a dangerous position at the Binnacle from which he rescued her and played hero. Then this elopement story, to compromise her. But he had you right where he wanted you. How? The bigamy charge, of course!"

Rae was now blazing. She might battle Jack. No one else could. She would perjure her little soul but she would fight him clear. "Do you know the conclusive thing?" Garrick turned to Dick. "That postcard, about last night at the Radio Central told me something."

they swung along until shortly with the naked eye could be made out a boat which was without doubt the 'Bacchante,' far out to sea.

As they watched, it deliberately turned and headed back, toward them. Garrick trained the glass toward it. What did it mean?

"By heaven!" he exclaimed. "What! that speck between us and him? Can it be someone—swimming? My God—it is—it is Ruth!"

Could it be that Ruth had seen and taken a last long chance, that she had gone overboard, risking everything on a Marathon swim, at that hour, with not a chance in a million of making the shore?

"Here, Guy, take this plane. I'll take the radio!"

Garrick seized the other of the doubt set of controls. A moment later he had tacked in spray and was rocking and pitching only a few feet from the swimmer. It was ticklish business but he maneuvered until he was able to swing about. Fortunately the sea was comparatively calm. As for Ruth, she was still fresh. Her long-distance swimming counted now in the balance for her life.

As Garrick, with a final effort with Dick, dragged her aboard, she almost collapsed in Dick's arms.

"Take care of her, Guy, for a minute!" Dick turned to his radio apparatus and as he did so Garrick saw that the 'Bacchante,' long before she was beaten, had turned and was going away at top speed. "There!" Dick swung a switch. A little light gleamed overhead. He swung another. Another signal overhead changed. "Go!"

Like a bolt flew the arrangement overhead, a long torpedo-like affair of aluminum, with wings and pontoons for all the world like the hydro-aeroplane on which they were.

It was flying, with the buzz of a hornet. Dick pressed a lever. It swung in its flight.

In the sunset Vario on the 'Bacchante' must have seen it, sensed it, for he knew something of Dick's work. He changed his course. Instantly Dick pulled a lever and the radiophone changed its course by exactly the same degree. It was like a conscience pursuing.

They could not see Vario beside the man at the wheel. He had his revolver, whether to intimidate the man or not, could not be determined. As the hornet swooped straight at him, however, he fired once, twice, three times at it. No marksmanship of Vario's could stop that thing. He seemed to realize it. For an instant he hesitated, then quickly turned the gun on himself—and fired.

As Vario sank to the deck, Garrick nerved himself for the explosion of the radiophone. To his amazement the little thing circled like a wasp, turned, and started back.

"They'll stand by, now," muttered Dick. "Not a reason in the world then to send that little treasure ship to Davy Jones!"

It was late and dark when the 'Bacchante' limped up and cast anchor off the Seaville wireless station, towing Defoe's radiophone and its mother flying boat.

Nita Walden had been sitting for hours in her car by the beach in front of the station, her eyes glassy, staring over the waters. She was shivering with fear. "Will they never come back? Oh, Ruth, Ruth, Ruth!"

Suddenly she saw a slim, dripping figure of a girl running up the beach. She winked, stared harder. "My Ruth—at last!" She pulled the curly head down to her and sobbed, joyously.

"I suppose I may have the job of detective watching the wedding presents?" laughed Garrick. "Really, mother, Guy saved me—you might say—on wings of wireless!"

Nita Walden spread her arms farther, caught Garrick's coat, drew him over, as the tears trickled down her face and planted a kiss on his cheek.

Garrick took her arm. "Nita, for your sake as well as Ruth's, come into the station. We ought to broadcast the truth. They'll fix up a little bite to eat, too—maybe a toast!"

He glanced over at Dick, as Ruth struggled away from his lips. "May I—may I—broadcast our announcement, Ruth?" pleaded Dick. Ruth sank back in his arms. "Yes . . . Dick . . . I'll tell the world!"

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Former County Residents Married Forty Five Years.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Keitel, of Hanover, former residents of this county, near Gettysburg, celebrated the forty-fifth anniversary of their marriage last Saturday evening at the residence of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin P. Hull, Hanover. Every living member of the families represented were present.

Besides the supper there were other features, including the presentation to "the bride", of a beautiful bouquet of bridal roses, and to both Mr. and Mrs. Keitel of a purse of $45 in gold, from all the children, representing $1 for each year of their married life.

They were married in Littlestown by the Rev. E. J. Metzler, of the Lutheran Church in 1877.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs.

DOES YOUR BACK ACHE

It's usually a sign of sick kidneys, especially if the kidney action is disordered, passages scanty or too frequent. Don't wait for more serious troubles. Begin using Doan's Kidney Pills. Read this Gettysburg testimony.

John H. Waddle, 704 S. Washington St., says: "I was all out of fix six years ago with disordered kidneys. I was out a lot in damp weather and as a result had a pretty hard time of it for awhile with my back. Darting pains caught me right across my hips and half the time I didn't know how I was going to get out of bed, my back was so sore and lame in the morning. My strength left me after working only a little while and my kidneys were so affected the secretions were thick and poorly colored. A druggist in York, Pa., recommended Doan's Kidney Pills and a couple of boxes of Doan's eased up the pains in my back and restored my kidneys to normal."

FARM CALENDAR

Timely Reminders From The Pennsylvania State College.

Select Seed Corn—Seed corn should be selected before it freezes. Pick ears that are uniform, of good type, and borne at right angles to stalks that are strong, healthy and of medium type.

Protection from Frost—The first fall frost may be expected about this time of the year. Several weeks may elapse between the first and second frost, which makes it worth while to protect and probably save tender plants of such vegetables as tomatoes, peppers, and eggplants.

Picking Pears—Pears are of better quality if they are not allowed to ripen on the tree. They should remain on the tree until thoroughly mature, picked before they become mellow, and stored in a cool dry place until fit for use.

Ration for Fall Freshening—A grain mixture consisting of equal parts of linseed oil meal, corn meal, ground oats and wheat bran, supplemented with silage and mixed hay, makes a good fitting ration in preparing cows for fall freshening.

Late Fall and Spring Forage—Forage is absolutely essential in modern pork production. To gain the highest efficiency, forage crops must be provided from early spring until late fall. Several crops may also be used for forage from fall until spring. Rye, fall sown, can be pastured during the fall and winter and is the earliest available for spring forage. Put in a quantity of this crop this year.

Artificial lights—Artificial illumination in the poultry house will assist seasonal egg production, but it is very essential that the birds be in good condition. It is just as contrary to common sense to make undeveloped pullets lay, as it is to make a boy do a man's work.

"I suppose you tell your wife everything you've done while she was away." "Oh, no, the neighbors attend to that."—Boston Transcript.

NEEDLE NEAR HIS HEART

New York Boy is Saved From Death by Delicate Operation.

New York, Sept. 20—Saved from death by an operation in which a part of a needle was removed from the pleural cavity, a hair's-breadth from the heart, William Constable, 12-year-old schoolboy, yesterday was discharged as cured from Roosevelt Hospital.

Doctor Henry W. Cavonne, who performed the operation, said that the lad, who is known as "Dimples Willie," and who is a great favorite, would be none the worse for his experience.

The needle, which he had found and was taking to his mother, became imbedded in the boy's stomach, when he jumped off an auto truck on which he and several friends had been riding, at the driver's invitation, two weeks ago.

Buffalo Convention.

The fact that this is the time of the fourth centennial of this great translation lends additional interest to the convention of the United Lutheran church in America which meets in Buffalo from October 17 to 26. The four thousand congregations composing the United Lutheran church will be represented at the convention by approximately 1,000 delegates from 40 states and six Canadian provinces. The organization is one of the largest synodical groups of the denomination in the world. The present officers are: Rev. F. H. Knobel, D. D., L. L. D., New York city, president; Rev. M. G. G. Scherer, D. D., New York city, secretary, and E. Clarence Miller, Philadelphia, treasurer.

NOTICE

Between Mary L. Snyder, Plaintiff, and John S. Snyder, Defendant.

NOTICE

To John S. Snyder, defendant. You are hereby notified that on the 16th day of September, 1922, your wife, Mary L. Snyder, filed her bill in equity in said Court to No. 2, November Term, 1922, complaining that on the 8th day of January, 1919, she entered satisfaction to judgment No. 6, January Term, 1919, Mary L. Snyder vs. John S. Snyder, without consideration and because of the coercion and influence of her husband, the defendant, and praying the Court to make order striking the said satisfaction from record and restoring the lien of her said judgment; and that the Court made order as follows:

And now, Sept. 18, 1922 it appearing by affidavit and other document applicable to the purpose, to the satisfaction of the Court, that the defendant, John S. Snyder, cannot, upon diligent inquiry, be found so as to be personally served with process, on motion of plaintiff's solicitor it is ordered that the bill of complaint be served on the said defendant by publication, in the manner prescribed by law, once a week for four successive weeks in one newspaper published in the County of Adams prior to the 16th day of October, 1922, and that in default of appearance or answer on or before the said day, the bill may be taken pro confesso; and that any further process, rule, notice, order or decree the cause, of which service shall be required, be served on the said defendant in the like manner, with the period of four weeks for appearance or compliance.

BLAMES SQUIRE HAMMERS FOR KILLING HIS RATS

L. E. Hershey, proprietor of Hershey's Park, near Seven Stars, received great annoyance and damage from rats. He went to Hammers' Store, paid 30c for the world's greatest rat exterminator and placed it under his building. The next morning it was a sight—all the rats, big and small, outside the building, dead. Not one rat on the place since. One 30c box will save any farmer 100 times its cost in annoyance and damage. Plenty on hand.

S. S. W. HAMMERS

WHY THEY PARTED

"I was down with pain in my right side which at times almost crazed me. Most all of the doctors said operation. But what I want to tell you is the pain disappeared with the first dose of your medicine and I never see any since. Mayr's Wonderful Remedy has the right name—gas, sour stomach and dyspepsia have left, too." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Peoples Drug Store and druggists everywhere.

ATLANTIC GASOLINE is Full-powered

Keen observers—motor-truck and motor-car owners whose selection of gasoline is based on long-period test and carefully kept records—know the meaning of "full-powered," not only from the standpoint of power, but in the matter of fuel economy and efficiency range.

They are good leaders to follow. Most of them use ATLANTIC Gasoline.

They've discovered that Atlantic is more than just "good" gasoline; that it is RIGHT gasoline—a fuel which has vigor as well as liveliness; which combines the volatility for action with the stability for indomitable piston-driving force.

Full-powered—perfectly balanced! A gasoline with a uniform "chain of boiling points" that not only assures sure-fire ignition and complete combustion, but gives it the range for maximum efficiency under every speed, load and temperature—that's Atlantic!

LOSE MILLION A YEAR

One million dollars annually is taken from the savings of York county citizens by fake stock and bond salesmen, according to an estimate made by the York Chamber of Commerce. Secretary E. A. Hirshman, of the York Chamber, has declared this estimate is conservative. It has been estimated Adams county investors are swindled each year out of $150,000 on bogus stocks.

COOK'S

COOK'S-The Selected Store for the Exclusive Sale of Nationally Known Super Quality Merchandise is the Store for all College Men

That store selected by a manufacturer, whose biggest pride is his product, for the exclusive distribution of his goods—that store likewise reflects a pride equally fine in the conduct and character of its own business.

A good product sold by a good store is a better product for that very reason.

It is a testimonial to a store, better, finer, greater than any other thing commercialism has to give to be chosen as sole selling representative by a leader of his line.

That store, in proving itself to the manufacturer, has already proved itself to the people. By both it has been judged by its works and by both counted worthy of confidence.

COOK'S is proud of this confidence.

For it is inestimable evidence of the people's appreciation of quality. A Good Store and Good Merchandise invariably make for themselves a place in the people's favor. Quality is always the one thing that will win greatest measure of success.

Price alone bears little relation to value; less perhaps to satisfaction. Which leads us to say that if more people took greater interest in the quality of the merchandise they buy and in the character of the store and its service they would be benefited.

Franklin said: "The best is always the cheapest." The merchandise of Hart, Schaffner and Marx, of Manhattan Shirts and of the other leaders whose confidence in Cook's permits us the privilege, through them, to serve you better attests to the truth of the proverb.

If you are not acquainted with the lines of these leaders, we invite you to come in some day and make their acquaintance.
